

Pet Waste

Why clean up after your pet?

Disease Control

Pet waste contains harmful bacteria, viruses and parasites that can wash into streams, like the Neshaminy Creek. These diseases can pose a health hazard to both people and pets. Picking up after your pet controls the spread of diseases to humans and wildlife and protects Warrington's waterways. Thank you for bagging your pet's waste, and putting it in the trash.

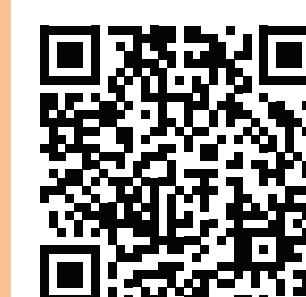

Responsibility

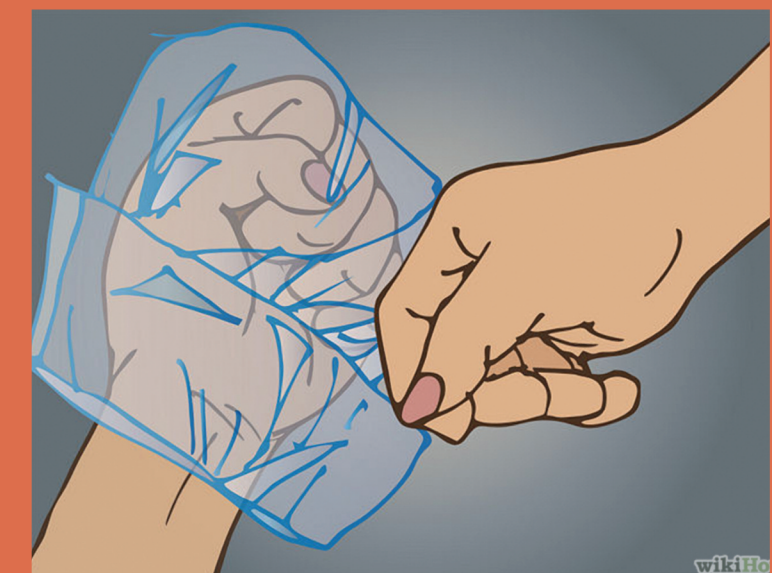

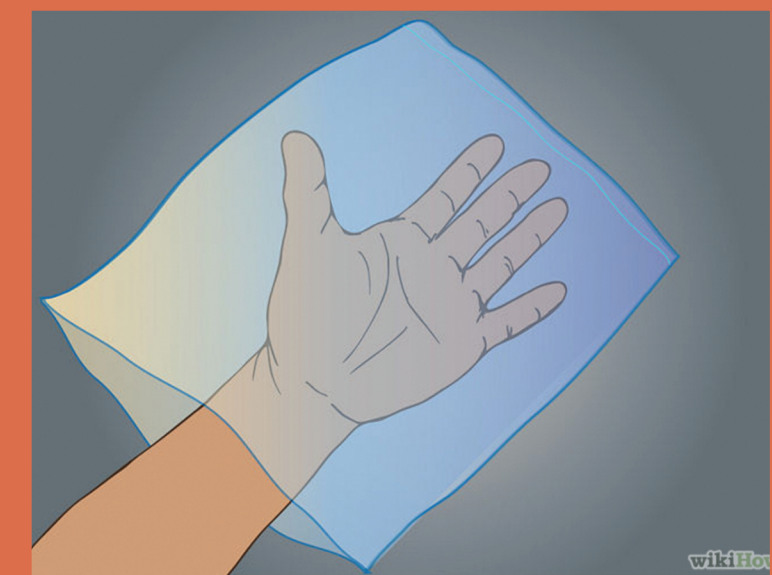

Be a proud and responsible pet owner. Keep your neighborhood cleaner and aesthetically pleasant.

Prevent Stool Eating

Surprisingly, your young dog may get into the habit of eating feces. Protect your treasured pets from sickness.

Easy way to remove pet waste

Images courtesy of wikiHow